

Know your rights

SPOTLESS AT ALFRED

Stand downs and being paid

You may be aware that in cases of alleged actions that may lead to disciplinary action many employers stand down workers telling them not to come to work.

In many cases the payment of their wages stops. This is not acceptable.

Employees at Spotless are entitled to be paid while stood down.

It is important that you contact your Union Delegate or Organiser if you are called into any kind of disciplinary meeting or you are advised of an investigation.

We can ensure that you continue to be paid and can represent you in any meeting that you would like us to attend.

If you have missed out on being paid during a stand down or would just like some further information please don't hesitate to call the friendly, professional team at the union office on (03) 9341 3300.

"Caring is our Profession"

Organiser Cameron Granger & Union Secretary Diana Asmar